About our book...

The days of our youth glide swiftly past and as they go, the sunshine and shadows of school life dim and fade into obscurity.

With this book we have tried to preserve, through the aid of story and the magic of pictures, glimpses of our activities, our scholastic achievements, our traditions, our companionships, our bewilderments, and our fascinations.

It is the wish of the Green Years' staff that as you recall the events of your memorable years at Westwood High, there will be a vivid and lasting impression upon your minds.

It is with distinct pleasure that we, the class of 1960, dedicate our yearbook to you, Mr. Flahive.

We wish to thank you for the endless hours of hard work that you have spent as our yearbook advisor. You

To the Class of 1960:

Just as your school has meant to you largely that which you have made it, so will you find life. It is my hope that you have found much meaning in school, and even more sincerely do I hope that you will continue to find increasing meaning and value in life as you grow. Your teachers and I will always rejoice with you over every gain you make. With every best wish for true success,

IN MEMORIAM

Joseph Mello was born on February 27, 1943 in Boston, Massachusetts and attended Westwood schools until his untimely death on November 6, 1958.

Active in sports, and eager to participate in school activities, his affable and friendly nature will long be remembered by his classmates.

His love for history has been perpetuated by a gift of history books presented by his parents to the Westwood High School library.

The passing of time will never dull the memory of Joseph Mello.

FEATURES

"...the ballroom prize we almost won..."

In our past four years at Westwood High there have been many featured events. Outstanding were our prom Bali Ha'i, and our Junior play Ring Around Elizabeth. These are just two of the many memorable events that we shared.

DOWN MEMORY LANE...

By the side of old Nohaton,
On the hill, 'neath sheltering oak trees,
There in ye olde senior high school,
In 1956—September,
We the closs of '60 entered
To the tune of double sessions;
Never dreoming thot before long,
We should choose from out our number,
Greg Romoine, as one to guide us,
Williom Riccio, to ossist him,
Secretory, Noncy Smolley,
Carolyn Arpe, as our treasurer.
Then, thot some year, in December,
We did move to our new wigwom,
And morked the end of double sessions.
With the help of our odvisors,
Mr. Nolon, Mr. Collins,
We plonned o donce for A.F.S. Doy.

When we did return os Sophomores,
We chose the ones who were to lead us,
Robert Bradley, Stephen Vogel.
Noncy Smolley kept our records,
Carolyn Arpe held the purse strings.
Mr. Child was our advisor.

With his help we plonned two donces;
"Haunted Hop" was oll successful,
"Sham-Rock" was our next endeavor.
Both were times of much rejoicing.
Then the girls to moke excitement,
Thought, ond then did bond together,
Dyed their hoir, wore fothers' neckties,
Did this oll when we were Sophomores.

Finding now the race holf over,
Holf our school years now behind us,
We began the year as Juniors;
We were now colled upper clossmen.
Agoin we chose the ones to leod us.
Robert Brodley, still the heod mon,
Frederick Tripp was next in office,
As our scribe was Noel Stoodley,

Brigid Kelleher, our bonker.
Mr. Nolon, Mrs. Eoton,
Were the ones that did odvise us.
Our closs this year for A.F.S. Doy
Washed and woxed oll Westwood's outos.
At "Monster Foul," the donce for football,
We did hong old Freddy Fronklin.
Our closs ploy was good, but hectic;
Opening night, before appeering,
"Where's the mokeup?" "Where's the prompter?"
Could be heord by nervous actors.
Honors now were heoped upon us—
Bolfour cited Johnny Wentzell;
Stote Science Foir for Otis Philbrick;
Ted Tripp, Roy Kodzis, went to Boys' Stote.
Then we plonned our prom, colled Ebbtide,
With its shipwreck scene and mermoid,
With its throne set in a seo shell,
This, our prom, we'll long remember.

Returning with onticipation,
With our biggest year before us,
Thinking now about our future,
Tripp moved up to be our leoder,

Wentzell was his sturdy helper,
Stoodley still recorded minutes,
Wompum-guard was Stephen Vogel.
Miss Burns and Mr. Pierce odvised us.
Agoin we woshed the cars of Westwood,
Soaked us all with soap and woter,
Made a mint for foreign students.
From the land of waving tulips,
Aty Von der Marel joined us,
Won the heorts of Westwood High School,
Mode us oll forget our troubles,
With her toles and bubbling loughter.
To Germony we sent two students—
Noncy Dorey for the summer,
Lindo Johnson spent the school year.
We gave two donces. First, "The Kick Hop;"
Then in leap year, "Sodie's Shindig."
Dieter Collhoff went from Westwood
Into Boston to the Stote House;
He was the one to represent us.
Assemblies, closs play, donces, porties.
This was our lost year together.
Now we've finolly reoched commencement.
All our future stands before us.
When we look back on old Nohoton,
To the hill 'neoth sheltering ook trees,
Where we once begon our journey,
We will fondly think of Westwood.
We hove these "Moments to Remember."

CLASS POEM

Memories cloud around our hearts,
As we ascend the stair.
The steps are steep. Where do they lead?
To happiness or care?

The first few steps were joyfully climbed,
Secure in childhood days.
The path was filled with laughter's voice
And sweetest childhood ways.

The next few steps are wisely climbed,
For here are lessons learned
Of truth and faith and the worth
Of lasting friendships earned.

The stairs unwind before our eyes
And promise things unseen—
Our happiness and destiny
Only God in Heaven may deem.

CLASS SONG

Now a bright new day is dawning.
We, the list'ning, heed its call.
Now the time has come for parting
On to future years we go.

On we seek our new-born goals,
Through the years our youth unfolds.
Through the door the key will open
Our bright, happy future.

We the sons of Westwood High School
Turn our fondest thoughts toward you.
To our parents, friends and teachers
We express our gratitude.

To the friendships we have cherished
We must bid a fond farewell.
We recall the joys and triumphs
That we always have held so dear.

All the friendships we have made,
These are things that will not fade.
Memories of all our classes
These we'll carry with us.

Courage now will lead us onward
Through our trials triumph gleams.
We behold a bright tomorrow,
Face with joy the coming day.

Onward, onward, seek our goals now.
We'll bring honor to dear Westwood High.

CLASS PROPHECY

Year 1980

Where—Metropolis, East Coast U. S. A.

Why—two reporters assigned to locate and interview the individual members of the class of 1960.

After dropping our bags at the hotel, we enter the swankiest restaurant known as CROATTI'S Cruller Coop, where we are greeted by the receptionist and former Miss America, GERRY KROLL. As we enter, we hear an uproar from a group seated at the corner table. The master of ceremonies, ROBERT BRADLEY, famed owner of Smiling Bob's Used Car Lot, has just introduced GEORGE DEBLASIO who, for the benefit of mankind, donated his teeth to the Elks. Among the other diners are BOB COMPTON, lobbyist for the hula-hoop industry, MARCIA GILL, principal stockholder in the Tareyton Corp., and RICHARD HENDERSON and DOROTHY RAY, co-owners of Scarlet Longies, Inc. Seated on their right are HOWARD NORTH, a V.I.P. in the popsicle industry, GREG ROMAINE, butter and egg merchant from the Midwest, and MARLENE INGRAHAM, owner of the Bubbling Brook chain. The "Maitre D" EARL HANCOCK shows us to a table directly in front of a 50-inch television screen where OTIS PHILBRICK is giving a lecture on primitive life in Westwood. Suddenly the program is interrupted by a news flash from the World White House, where the President of the One World, TED TRIPP, is announcing our mission to the Moon. After listening to a commercial for GORDON HOWE'S bottled Florida sunshine, we grab our coats and catch a taxi for the theater. Screeching to a halt at the light, we discover that our driver is Georgeous GEORGE McCUSKER. We arrive just in time to see the famed Rockettes—BUBBLES BOYNTON, BOMBSHELL BUTLER, CASANOVA CARNIVALE, HELPLESS HANSON, MODEST MARIANO, LEGS MURPHY, RISQUE RICCIO, and SUAVE SULLIVAN led by the Irish Brigitte Bardot, PAT KELLIHER. This is the opening number of a new, smash, musical, comedy hit, "Way, Way Out", produced and directed by RAYMOND KODZIS. Featured in the cast we see SUSAN GEORGE, the Westwood Nightingale, JOANNE SACHS, doing a soft shoe routine, and VIRGINIA VAN HAM in the one man band. Leaving the theater, we step onto the continuously moving slidewalk where we encounter DAVID COBB, who is moving in the same direction, selling subscriptions to Mad magazine. As we proceed, we notice a billboard announcing the Halo contest winner, Miss KAREN BORG. Presently we step off the slidewalk and stumble over a raised manhole cover. Here we discover RICHARD SEAVEY and TOM LYMAN who claim to be prospecting for uranium. We step firmly on the cover and continue along to the flower shop of STEPHEN RORK, where we purchase some of his delicate arrangements. For old times sake, we drop into RICHARD HOLDEN'S Coffin Shoppe, to be measured for two custom made jobs, and see his sign—I'll be the last man to let you down. Dick sends us next door to WEE WILLY WRIGHT'S fashion center, where JANET FITZPATRICK is modeling the tall girl dresses which must suit MIANNE BEIGBEDER'S various dates. We enter our hotel after a narrow escape from a particularly speedy slidewalk, operated by the reckless RICHARD VAUGHN. In the lobby, we are attracted by the loud cries of JUDITH WALLACE, hawking yesterday's papers. Since we have a few minutes on our hands, we glance through the paper and notice that SUSAN STONE has just been elected President of Radcliffe College. In the sports section, we read about GARY MAUS' fabulous exploits on the hockey rink, and about KENNY NICHOLS who, after 22 years, helped the Giants beat the Colts!! On the same page with EDITH REES' "Dear Abby" column, are 2 ads: One announces the opening of JULIE SCHRAMM'S Beatnik Bakery, and the other a sale of broken records at JOANNE SPRAGUE'S record shop—The Cool Cats' Corner. Out of the sharp-looking corps of bell-hops, the captain ELLEN LOEHR assigns DAVID KOWALSKI and JOHN BJARNASON to attack our mountain of luggage. Our elevator operator turns out to be JEAN DONNELLY, who says she enjoys her job, but gets sick of the route. Before entering our hotel room, we are frisked by JUDITH LAWRENCE, lady house detective who pioneered the use of plastic handcuffs. We are barely settled, when we are disturbed by familiar giggles from the next room. Investigating we find CAROLYN ARPE, MARY HOLDERRIED, MERILYN STEWART, PATRICIA STONE, and JUDITH SYLVESTER holding their 20th annual slumber party with proceeds going to the SUSAN HOWARD fund for the undernourished. Early the next morning, we start for the rocketport. On the way out the door, our purses are snatched by HENRY CONNORS who recognizes us and gives us back half. At the parking lot we board the helicopter which is piloted by DAVID FUHS, who leaves us on the roof of Space Flights, Inc. Here we are greeted by the dashing General Manager, Glad Hand WENTZELL, with his private secretary and body guard JANET AUSTIN. He tells us that there will be a delay in our rocket flight to the moon, and suggests that we spend some time in the lobby. He assigns

JACQUELYN CROSBY as a guide to conduct us to the information desk, which is a busy place. However, BETTY HOSKING, EILEEN O'REILLEY, and JOAN WHITAKER still find time to ask us for information. High above the confusion in the lobby, we see LOIS HICKEY and PETER BARNARD painting a mural of a wolverine across the dome of the ceiling. They respond to our greetings by dropping a can of green paint, which lands squarely on BRIGID KELLEHER, who promptly falls down and tears her nylons. The loud speaker blares forth with an announcement, and we recognize the loud, raucous voice of DONA CIANCARELLI announcing the departure of Flight 77 which is the morning local to Berlin and Moscow. Among the passengers are lady senator CAROLYN SMITH and her ghost writer CAROL DWYER; ALICE FLOYD, wild game hunter; JOAN CAREY, famous writer for the T.V. show 100 and 1 Questions, and Journalist NANCY SMALLEY, who is traveling to Russia to see why that country's bebop is so advanced. We are suddenly overwhelmed by a mob of screaming females led by KATHY ALBANI and ANNABELLE BUZZELL. The bewildered object of their swoons is none other than the housewives heart-throb JEFF TILLEY, the human microphone, singing his latest hit. LOUIS VALENTINE, the rocketport radio operator, signals that he has sighted two unidentified objects landing in parachutes. Rushing to his screen we recognize MARY JANE KELLEY and JUDY RAIMO, co-owners of Elizabeth Hardern's Beauty Salon, who are putting their famous hair spray to the wind test. Distracted by the clank of two mechanical doctors, operated by BETSY MACDONALD, we inquire from a traffic cop, MARILYN TOWNE, the cause of all this confusion. It seems that multi-millionaire JUDY SHAW had accidentally dived into an unfilled swimming pool covered with clear plate glass while attending an anniversary celebration at ELLEN MILLEY'S palatial estate. Passing by the customs desk, we spy the two renowned ambassadors to the One World Congress—ATY VAN DER MAREL and DIETER "Shatze" CALLHOFF, and PATTY BALESTRA, who as Teacher of the Year, was awarded a trip halfway around the world. International model DIANE McLAREN is having a violent disagreement with the customs officers who refuse to believe that she is not Gina Lollobrigido. At last our flight is announced, but before boarding, we purchase a few magazines at the news stand where smiling BETSY DIMAN shows us the new best seller, Perils Of Writing a Class Prophecy, by SHEEHAN and STOODLEY. At the entrance of our rocket, we are greeted by the two charming stewardesses, WENDY CALDER and JOAN

CONCREE, and our capable pilot STEVE VOGEL. Seated comfortably, we strike up a conversation with our fellow passengers. We are particularly interested in the adventures of NANCY DOREY a world traveler, KENNY ROBBINS author of the best seller "Women and Kenneth Robbins", JOE SCHREIBER, F.B.I. man in charge of enforcing the law of gravity, and MARILYN SELIAN, the world's tallest midget. After dinner we enjoy the entertainment provided in the lounge by CAROL McCALL, who really belts out the blue notes, and DICKIE CERQUA and GERRY ANDERSON on the piano. Our radio operator, BOB LOTHROP, announces over the intercom that we should prepare ourselves for landing on the moon. As we step out, we buy two pogo sticks from LINDA JOHNSON at a convenient stand, and hop to the customs office in one bound. Here all the passengers are inspected by DAVE LENNON, ART KEEFE, GARY POWERS, BUDDY SADLER, and PHIL MAGALETTA to make sure that we haven't imported any mice, and to make us promise that we won't export any moonlight. On being told that there is a carnival nearby, we follow JIM BAKER, the featured strongman and his assistant, ARTHUR LEBLANC, who carries all the weights. Soon we hear the boisterous barker, MIKE WAY, announcing the star attractions inside the main lunar bubble. In a roped off area we find Killer CAROL BONANNO, the lady wrestler taking on all comers. One of her victims is thrown high above the ropes and lands on ELLIE SMITH who is innocently digging and eating green cheese. Among the contestants in the beauty contest is the queen of Venus, KAREN DEFRANCO (probably chosen because she was the only one with two arms). We consult the gypsy fortune teller, MARCIA MAUS, who tells us we are about to meet a celebrated lunar linguist. Sure enough, we meet TOM PENDLETON in the next booth saying, "Please throw money" in seven languages. The carnival medicine man turns out to be Sawbones PENNY PERCHARD, who is peddling bottles of medicine for pogo stick blisters. Not wanting to be weighted down by our loose change during the trip back to Earth, we decide to visit the local casino where the chief croupier, KARL BREMNER, gives us a warm welcome and picks our pockets. However, our stay is a short one as it doesn't take the skill girls, PAT MASSEY and JOANNE MALONEY, long to get the rest of our money, with special assistance from WALTER REESE, who sits under the table and carefully regulates the roulette wheel in accordance with Jevon's laws. Our trip back to Earth seems a short one as we made it without the rocket ship.

I Could Have Danced

Our Majesties and their court

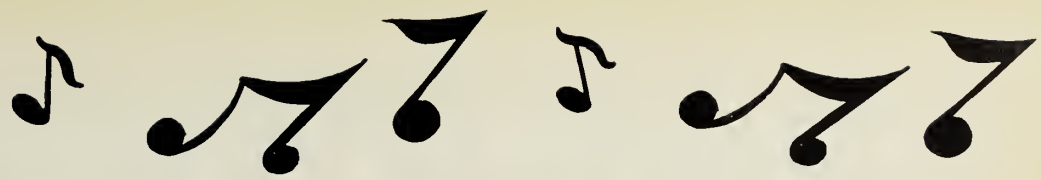

Mr. Chase starts us off

Bab and Donna in the lead

The biggest event of our junior year was our prom, Ebbtide. Our decor was a large shipwreck scene, guarded by a mermaid, exotic tropical fish dangling in gay profusion, and a greeny-blue mist pervading the room. Our chaperones chose Nancy Meyer and her escort John Recks as our king and queen. The junior members of the court consisted of Wendy Calder and escort Mark Maxfield, Karen DeFranco, escorted by Karl Bremner, and Ellen Milley with her escort Robert Davis. We danced to the strains of music provided by our own Mr. Monaghan. This was our memorable Ebbtide.

The Student Council was headed by Robert Craatti as President, and directed by Miss Keenan. Its regular yearly program is to sell book covers and to sponsor Work Day in order to aid the school's A.F.S. program. Other projects are the annual Christmas dance, the Snowflake Frolic, and Career Day. The Student Council has carried out all these projects successfully and completed the term with a banquet for its members.

THE CHRISTMAS CONCERT

COLOR GUARD

This year the Color Guard consisted of Nael Staadley, Marilyn Stewart, Sandra Carlson, and Marsha M-Geough. This group formed a quartet as they marched down the field at the head of the band. Marilyn Stewart and Marsha M-Geough guarded our country's and town's flags borne by Nael Staadley and Sandra Carlson. Alternate members were Carol Martin and Susan Kreiser.

Under the direction of Mr. Managhan the Westwood High School drill team has made football halftimes far more colorful. Commander Pat Kelliher deserves much credit for the team's precision and their difficult routines.

MICROBES and MOLECULES...

The Biology Club, supervised by Mr. Sorris and Mr. Thwing, started a new trend this year. They sub-divided the group into three different fields, Conservation, Bacteriology, and Nursing. Any interested student could join these groups, even though he was not studying biology. Some of these clubs' diverse activities included nursing aid at the Norwood Hospital, and working with slides and with animals. It has been a rewarding experience for all, and they are looking forward to another interesting year.

The Chemistry Club, directed by a newcomer to W.H.S., Mr. Von DeWorkeen, chose its officers at its first meeting. The results were as follows: John Rolton, President; Edward Nobreski, Vice President; and Judith Lawrence, Secretary. As in past years, the club placed special emphasis on Qualitative Analysis. The club was open to all those students who took chemistry, and also to all students who had previously studied chemistry.

Accents and Umlauts

The French club enjoyed a very busy and prosperous year, capably guided by Mrs. Eaton. The club elected its officers at one of the first meetings. They chose Connie Smith as President, Mianne Beigbeder as Vice-President, Marcia Gill as Secretary, and Dieter Callhoff as Treasurer. Then they started the year by viewing Mrs. Eaton's slides of Paris and France. They continued their varied activities, including plays, dinners, films, and the traditional Christmas caroling. As in previous years, the meetings were held at the homes of club members. Nous esperons que l'annee prochaine soit aussi agreable!

The German club, under the direction of Mrs. Cynthia Valentine, is comprised of German students, and those of German descent. The club elected the following officers: President, Otis Philbrick; Social chairman, Lee Henry; and Secretary, Virginia Van Ham. During the past year they have enjoyed many memorable experiences. The most prominent of these was the Christmas caroling program held at the request of many town's people. Other of the club's activities include German movies, and three one-act plays. Everyone really enjoyed an interesting year.

This year's football team was much stronger than their two-four-two record showed. The Wolverines led their opponents in every statistic except points scored. With a few more breaks, the team could easily have had a winning season. Under coaches Reis and Cieri's fine supervision, the team was undefeated in its last three games. Westwood standouts this season were Bob Bradley, Ray Kodzis, Ken Nichols, Steve Vogel, Ted Tripp, and John Wentzell.

The '59-'60 Wolverine basketball team was a much improved group. After a slow start which saw it win only two of its first twelve games, the team won three consecutive games. The most satisfying victory for Coach Pender and his team was an overtime win over first-place Randolph. John Ralton was the team's high scorer, averaging seventeen points a game. Other outstanding players were John Cookson, Jeff Tilley, George DeBlasio, Bob Quaglieri, and Wally Carnivale.

Third row: Greer, O'Neil, Sheffield, McDougall, Smith, Hickey, P. Stane, Galandzy, Vogel.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The girls' basketball team, coached by Miss Christine Fazzi, played a fabulous season this year. Although the season did not result in an undefeated one, the girls did a marvelous job by making their record 4-5. This definitely reflects the wonderful team spirit, and the excellent coaching by Miss Fazzi, our new girls' coach. Credit should be given to the high scorers Concetta Mafera and Sheila MacDougall; and to Janice Pero and Lynn Forster for their outstanding guarding.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL

The girls' 1959 softball team was coached by Mrs. Carol Edney. Although the team's spirit and enthusiasm was high, the season did not end in an undefeated one. Their final record was three wins, and six losses. Special credit should be given to Sarah Smith, center field; Lynn Forster, first base; and Penny Bacchieri for their outstanding playing.

CHEERLEADERS

"Guess what! We won!!"

"We want a touchdown!"

"Have you got that spirit??"

Our tremendous cheerleaders have done a marvelous job in keeping the school spirit at the football and basketball games this year.

"Congratulations" should be given to these eight wonders who won the South Eastern State Cheering Competition at Mansfield.

Thanks should also go to hard working seniors Jackie Crosby, Ellen Milley and Diane McLaren who have contributed towards a highly successful season.
